TIMELY TOPICS

BE BRITISH, MY MEN
Captain Smith, the popular commander of the unfortunate Titanic, spoke a few words toward the close of his sea-faring career that touched the heart of all Britishers. He might have been ill-advised, and because of his counsellors led his tremendous vessel to her doom, but as soon as he saw his mistake he did his best and played the man. When there was danger of his men becoming panic stricken, he stood out like the brave commander that he was and cried, "Be British, my men." Those men, the crew and passengers alike, heeded his challenge, with the result that about all the women and children who chose found an opportunity, nay, were helped into the lifeboats, and the men, though many of them could have saved themselves had they made the rush, simply stood back and prepared themselves for the final plunge of the vessel.

A special committee of enquiry has been sitting during the past week in the United States, trying to pick up all the information possible from the survivors, not for the purpose of laying blame to anyone, for that would be of little use, but to find out facts for future use.

Although the Titanic carried the regulation number of lifeboats there were not half enough to accommodate all on board, or most of them at any rate might have been saved. Then, it is clear, the Titanic set out to establish a record, and her speed for such dangerous waters was altogether too fast. Then, again, the watchmen were not well equipped with night telescopes as it appears they might have been. And yet again there comes the awful news that a vessel was only a few miles away from the wrecked ship, and that her commander was over cautious and afraid of risking the many lives on his own vessel, would not go to the rescue of the Titanic. This last is, however, denied by the captain, and we sincerely hope it is untrue. Charges of cowardice are to be deplored in connection with such a serious disaster. Nobody knows how they would behave in such a crisis. It is sufficient that most, if not all, rallied to the call, "Be British, my men." Let us all rally to it, and be slow to judge and slower still to condemn, until the final facts are made public.

EMIGRATION

This year is already seeing a record of immigrants entering this country. During the next eight days as many as 20,000 are expected to pass through Montreal from England, and great preparations are being made for their accommodation. The west, as usual, will get a good proportion of these homeseekers. We wish something could be done to assist the poorest of these settlers to get upon the land. A man with a large family is greatly handicapped if he lands in this west country with little or no capital. A loan say of two thousand dollars with small interest and several years in which to pay it, would help many a deserving man over the most trying time of his life. We learn that the C.P.R. is about to do this for those who settle upon their ready made farms. Why cannot the government carry out the same idea? Conditions are very different now to what they were 20 years ago, when almost all men in the west were poor and living was much cheaper, and men had not the craze for wealth. Now a man without some capital is at a distinct disadvantage, he cannot compete with his fellows, he stands almost no show at all in a country where dollars are thrown about like dirt, if he has not the dollars too. We wish success to every honest settler. We all know the feeling of entering into a new country with very little to do with, everything is strange, everybody one meets is a stranger. A helping hand, a cheery word at such times, is worth more than gold.

AMERICAN POLITICS

There is something quite amusing about politics across the border just now. We quite thought that President Taft had made a tolerably good president. We felt sure that several things he had done or tried to do were very good indeed. At one time Roosevelt thought so too, that was at the time when "Teddy" had decided not to put up for president again. But it seems, according to Teddy, that things have been going all wrong, seriously so, in fact. Taft has been bold enough to strike out and do and say things without consulting Teddy; and now, behold, Teddy has decided that no one can run the great Republic better than himself, so the self-crowned king is pulling Taft to pieces on the political platform, with the intention of beating him to a "frazzle," whatever that means. But here is the fun of it: Bryan, Roosevelt's old opponent, is just "tickled to death," as the saying is. The idea of two dear friends like Teddy and Taft scrapping, just amuses Bryan. It would really be great fun if the people would just step in and decide to give Bryan a turn at the helm. But there—politics has gone dead these days. What do the people care for these scraps? They want good government, good laws, light taxes and peace. This is what they should get, politics notwithstanding.

The Disappearance of Jas. Gibson

No word has yet been heard of the whereabouts of Jas. Gibson, a farmer living in the neighborhood of Carmangoy, who suddenly disappeared some two weeks ago. Mr. Gibson is well known in Staveland, having kept the now Palace Livery Stables. On the day of his disappearance he drove to Staveland with a Mr. Strange, a neighbor. When they arrived in Staveland, Gibson cashed a grain cheque for $180, and was supposed to have started for the depot to take the noon train. Inquiries, however, made at the depot elicited the fact that no tickets were sold for Clareholm on the day in question, Gibson has not been seen since, and his sudden disappearance is causing his friends much uneasiness.

When no word had been received after waiting a few days, his friends notified the Mounted Police, who started at once to look for him, and it is hoped that they will be able to clear up the mystery.

Mr. Gibson was a man of even temper and good habits, and no reason can be given at present for any desire for wanting to leave the country. He was not in any financial difficulty at all, his assets amounting to four or five times his liabilities. He also refused $190 cash a horse the day before he left, which shows that if he had had any intention of leaving the country he would have accepted it. It looks somewhat suspicious if he had $80 in his pocket when he left home, and with the grain cheque for $180 would make $260.

Grain is coming in more freely now, with the advent of more cars.

Sunday school and bible class in the Caley Presbyterian Hall at 10.15 a.m., regular service at 11 o'clock. Everybody welcome.

Mr. Hocart is up from Red Deer to thresh his last year's crop. He expects to here for about six weeks.

Mr. J. Drumheller, sr., who has been spending the past week at the C. C. ranch, returned to his home at Spokane, Wash., last Monday.

Mr. Wm. Caspell attended the meeting of the Synod of the Presbyterian church held in Lethbridge last week, as representative of the Caley and Richardson churches.

The examination of those attending the teachers bible training class, which was to have been held on Monday, has been unavoidably postponed for about two weeks.

The local football club have arranged to play a match with the Claresholm team on Tuesday next, May 7th. That means that our boys will need to put some time in at practice between now and that date.

The Rev. Mr. McNab of B. C. occupied the pulpit in Caley Hall on Sunday morning last as a candidate for a call. Mr. McNab preached a very instructing sermon, and made a favorable impression on the members of the congregation.

Messrs. F. Macdonald, L. R. Caspell, Geo. Wickens and J. Cohen attended the 93rd anniversary of the I.O.O.F. at High River on Sunday last. The service was held in the Methodist church. The Rev. T. P. Berry delivered a fine oration, which was much appreciated.

We regret to have to record the death of the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Latham, which sad event occurred on Monday morning from an attack of measles, followed by pneumonia. Interment takes place on Wednesday in Caley cemetery. The greatest sympathy is expressed for the bereaved parents.

There are some very pretty fields of fall wheat in this vicinity. Among many others that Mr. O. G. Walker is one of the best to be seen and will take some beating.

H. Dane, late teller at the Bank of Hamilton here, and who has severed his connection with that institution, has been appointed to a similar position in the Dominion Bank at High River. He left for that town on Monday morning.

Threshing and seeding is the order of the day. Things are a little twisted, as threshing is a little out of season. A wonderful country, seeding and harvesting at the same time, and the grain in apple pie order.

The secretary of Local Improvement Dist., No. 9-W-4, recently received word that the Department of Public Works, through the untiring efforts and popularity of L. M. Roberts, M.P.P., will pay the entire costs of the construction of the road that was built across Squaw Coulee last season. This will not doubt be very gratifying to the ratepayers of the district, as it will leave some $1400 more to apply on other portions of the road, and Mr. Roberts is to be congratulated on his success.

What seemed a new innovation took place on Monday. A pole had been erected at the corner of the street by the Bank of Hamilton building, with a long new box attached. Some of our citizens, thinking it was a new letter box, were playing hide and seek to find the letter slot, when they were apprised of the fact that the village had erected the pole for the purpose of attaching the village light instead of the telephone pole across the road.

On Monday Sandy Durham and J. S. Macdonald, our two local blacksmiths, attended the funeral of their late fellow craftsman, T. Johnson of High River. The late Mr. Johnson was in the High River hospital the same time as Mr. Macdonald, both suffering from typhoid fever. They both apparently recovered and left the hospital. After leaving the hospital in a very weak condition Johnson was not careful in his diet and he died last week. Mr. Macdonald hopes to resume business in about a month.

Quite a pathetic little comedy was witnessed at the Caley depot on Monday morning as the train going north was pulling out. One of our popular young citizens who was leaving on that train, stood on the platform, anxiously looking town-ward, big sighs now and again heaving his manly young bosom—stood there waiting till the very last moment. Reluctantly young "Lochinvar" was at last compelled to get aboard the moving car, wearing such a disappointed, woe-begone and pitiful expression on his countenance that was enough to break a heart of stone. Barely, however, had the moving train gone twenty yards, when came rushing to the depot two of Caley's charming young "sweet sixteen's." When near the depot, were heard the ominous words, "Too late, ye cannot see him now!" spoken by one of our citizens; and oh, the disappointment! We refrain from following the incident any farther, and let the curtain drop. While the one on train, all unconscious of the little comedy that had been enacted at the depot, was wearing a smile something like this as the big car rolled along.

It is rumored that our pool room has changed hands during the week.

It is not often you see a threshing rig working, a binder cutting standing grain, and a seed drill putting in another crop all at the same time. But such are the conditions in this district this spring. This is truly a sight worth seeing and one you will not likely see again in a hundred years.

The crop conditions in Caley district were never better than they are this year. Provided there is a continuance of favorable weather there should be a record yield this year. All that is needed now to force the quick rapid growth of the grains is a little warmth and sunshine.

The financial year of the Methodist Church closes on May 15th. The Forks and Zephyr appointments of that church have done splendidly in raising their portions. Will the Caley members and adherents kindly note the above date and pass in their cheque to the stewards in time for it to be included in this year's figures.

Shall We Observe "Mothers' Day"?

"Mothers' Day" is the second Sunday in May, annually, this year May 12th. The general object of Mothers' Day is a simultaneous observance in every part of the world to exalt motherhood and home in a way that will add to personal, domestic and national up-lift.

It is a thank-offering of grateful sons and daughters of all lands for the mothers and fathers whose goodness has blessed their lives.

It is a personal day—"positive, singular."

It is not a day for you to honor the mother and father of some great man in history, but it is a day for you to honor those of your home—especially the mother who in your heart is "the best mother who ever lived."

It is a day for men and women—"big boys and girls"—as sons and daughters to honor themselves by showing gratitude to parents who watched over them with tender care in childhood days.

Mothers' Day is for everybody, and it is desired that it have the interest of all fraternal, military, business, civic, social, educational and other organizations, as well as all persons who honor the home.

While Mother's Day is free as to its celebration for all, it is not free for any person or society to raise funds through it for their own special interests. It would be impossible for any movement to exist if its popularity is to be used by all classes of people and societies to raise funds for various charities and their own advantage. It is hoped that every friend of Mothers' Day will protect it from these trespassers.

The white carnation is the chosen emblem of the day, because it may be thought to typify some of the virtues of motherhood. Its whiteness stands for purity; its form, beauty; its fragrance, love; its wide field of growth, charity; its lasting qualities, fidelity.

The manner of observing Mothers' Day is left to everyone's own heart in the injunction, "Live this day as your mother would have you live it." Don't try to be "an earthly saint," but just the "big boy" or "girl" your mother believes you are.

Every person is asked to wear a white carnation—or his or her mother's favorite flower, on Mothers' Day, as a filial honor badge.

If possible, have your mother and father as you guests of honor this Mothers' Day, or go home and visit in a way which will make this a day of pleasure to them.

If you cannot do this, through letter, message or gift, stamp the day with kindness.

If this is a "memorial day" for you, reverence it as such in your own best way—it is not for anyone to tell you how.

The Idea of Mothers' Day is not idle sentimentalism. It has well been called "the highest bit of practical sentiment that has ever taken hold on the hearts of men." An organized tribute to mother's love resolves itself into an organized tribute to mother's law, and the recognition of mother's law means love for country, for comrades and for God.

Let everyone, through co-operation with the Mothers' Day International Association, 2081 N. Twelfth Street, Philadelphia, Pa., help to make the second Sunday of May, 1912, a great home day, a day of family re-unions, of observance by all organizations of every class, and of personal and national up-lift.

Further suggestions and information regarding official programs for churches, Sunday schools and societies, official badges, buttons, decorations, etc., may be had by applying to the Alberta Sunday School Association, 236 Eighth Ave., West, Calgary, Alta.

When the band on the Titanic played "Nearer, My God, to Thee," as the waters were closing over the great ship, there must have been many on board who were strangely comforted and uplifted by this utterance of man's hope for eternity.

The delegates from the High River Presbytery to the Presbyterian General Assembly at Edmonton are: Rev. W. D. Reid, B.A., B.D., Calgary; Rev. D. K. Allan, Vulcan; Wm. Caspell, Caley; I. Terborgh, Loma.

Relics of the Titanic dotted the sea over an area of thirty miles square, Captain Lardner said. Sails, windows and chairs by the score were found floating, but none of them were bodies lashed, in several instances there were groups of floating bodies numbering sixty or more, but none were lashed together. Col. Astor was found standing almost erect in his lifebelt.

The following appeared in a recent issue of the Okotoks Advance under the "Lost and Found" heading: "Mar Chong washing Monday and Thursday. Work well and carefully done in front of the electric light plant."
